Welcome to the Autumn Term 2026. We hope you had an enjoyable and restful summer break and are settling well into the new academic year. In this edition, we highlight the support available through our Experts at Hand (EAH) programme, alongside upcoming training opportunities including our new Seeds of Change programme, A-LIST training, and ELSA training. We look forward to continuing to work in partnership with schools to promote inclusion, wellbeing and positive outcomes for children and young people across Sutton.

Experts at Hand (EAH) – EP Service Support Packages

The EAH initiative is focused on providing support to schools to enable them to become more inclusive and meet the needs of pupils with SEND earlier and more effectively. Each school has a number of Educational Psychology EAH hours to use in the way that they feel would benefit their setting the most as well as access to additional support from our new EP Assistants.

We have compiled a range of support packages for you to choose from, detailed in our EAH brochure. This includes an OAP implementation package as well as packages focused on whole school wellbeing, building home-school collaboration and many more! The packages listed are not exhaustive, if you would like support around other themes or areas of need, contact your link EP to discuss how we may be able to help.

For full details of the EP support packages available, please see our Experts at Hand brochure.

The EP service are excited to launch a new training opportunity delivered across 4 sessions. This programme supports school leaders to develop an anti-racist culture by building understanding of racism, exploring unconscious bias, reviewing curriculum representation, and strengthening policies and practices through an anti-racist lens. The programme aims to improve belonging and inclusion, reduce attainment gaps, build leadership confidence and create a culture of equity and respect across the whole school community.
